

Washington -- U.S. Representative John Olver (D-First District) has announced that the Center

"The rural communities in western Massachusetts have led the state and nation in their commi

"We are finding that public interest in waste reduction and recycling continues to grow. (

Highlights of the program include helping communities meet eligibility criteria for the state's Mu

The Center for Ecological Technology (CET) is a non-profit energy/resource conservation and

###